Tight pants kill porky playboy

He's 6-feet tall, she's 3-foot 6 and they're . . .

TWINS!

THE HIGHS AND LOWS of being twins are an everyday occurrence for Anton Marx and his twin sister Hettie. He weighs 142 pounds while she tips the scales at a scant 48 pounds.

By SCOTTY PAUL

Amazing twins Anton and Hettie Marx make an incredibly odd couple when they stroll down a street — because he's 6-feet tall and she's a pint-size 3-foot-6½.

Hettie is so small she doesn't even come up to her brother's waist, but she carries a big stick — since she was born a minute before Anton.

"Hettie is very bossy. When we argue, she always says I must do as she says because she's older," said Anton.

The 10-year-old twins live with their parents in Brandfort, South Africa. Anton weighed only 4 ounces more than Hettie at birth. Today, he tips the scales at 142 pounds, she weighs 48. Five months after birth, Hettie came down with an incurable hereditary disease which severely stunts the growth of bones.

"We decided to encourage Hettie to lead as normal a life as possible," said her mother, Ina. "Fortunately, Anton has always been wonderful to her."

All of the light switches in the Marx home have been lowered for Hettie's convenience. "If she needs something off a high shelf, we get it for her," said her mom.

Hettie said she had to be bossy with her brother when they were in school. "If it wasn't for me he'd never get his homework done," she said.

"He also has the irritating habit of bending down and ruffling my hair," said the tiny twin. "I keep telling him I'm not a pet dog. I'm his twin sister. Once in a while, I give him a good kick in the shins."

"One day in town I wandered off to look in a store window and a woman scolded Anton for letting a little child walk off without adult supervision," said Hettie.

"Once in a while I give him a good kick in the shins," says little sister

Woman kills kin and herself but calls police to save her pooch

A woman didn't mind murdering her hubby and mother-in-law, but called cops to make sure they would take care of her dog — before she committed suicide.

Lorraine Napierskiy's suicide followed the shooting deaths of her husband, Anthony, 43, and his mother, Theresa, 61, in Cloudsville, N.Y.

"I've just killed my husband and my mother-in-law. I'm next. Please take care of my dog," Lorraine, 42, told a police dispatcher before she shot herself.

Mail order from the Twilight Zone . . .

NEWSPAPER AD ran in The New York Sunday News of Nov. 8, 1936.

Woman sends for item advertised in 1936 newspaper — and gets it!

Rosalie Bodnaruk says you could have knocked her over with a feather when the silver serving set that she jokingly ordered from a 54-year-old newspaper ad arrived at her doorstep in a box postmarked 1936!

Even stranger, the company she ordered the set from, Hearns of New York, went out of business in the 1950s.

"This is like something out of the Twilight Zone," said the 66-year-old woman from Baltimore.

"I never expected to get anything. I ordered the silver on a lark.

"But it came to my doorstep and my postman doesn't know anything about it. When I told him what happened he looked at me like I was a nut."

The mind-numbing drama began when Mrs. Bodnaruk ran across a copy of the Nov. 8, 1936, edition of The New York Sunday News while cleaning out her attic.

She spotted a Hearns ad for various baby items and silver services on page 26 and decided to order a few pieces "just to see how the company would respond."

"I jotted down what I wanted on a slip of paper. I didn't even send any money," said Mrs. Bodnaruk. "Sixteen or 17 days later the silver service arrived and the box it was in had a 1936 postmark.

"I tried to call Hearns to find out what was going on but they didn't have a telephone. I checked around and found out they went out of business in the 1950s."

Postal authorities couldn't explain how the woman got the package but speculated that she might have ordered the silver service in 1936 and that it somehow got lost in the mail.

Mrs. Bodnaruk says that's not possible because she lived in New Jersey in 1936 and didn't move to Baltimore — where the package arrived — until 1937.

Experts on the paranormal contacted by The NEWS said the only possible explanation is that the woman's letter to Hearns slipped through a time warp and the silver service was delivered the same way. "The thing that really puzzles me is how many people were ultimately involved," said one researcher.

"The woman's letter was obviously handled by two or more postal workers from the post as well as company clerks, order-fillers and a shipping department.

"This is definitely a case for the textbooks. It's something we are going to study for a long time to come."

— SAM SELLARS

TOTAL SURPRISE: Rosalie Bodnaruk shows how she opened the package from Hearns department store to find the new items she ordered.

THE AD and the bewildered silver set still puzzles Mrs. Bodnaruk . . . but the Baltimore woman sure loves the price!

BRAVE BOY BLOWS UP WHILE HELPING PUPS

A little boy tried to protect his puppies from an army of ants and accidentally killed himself and the pets.

Roger Langston, 7, poured a ring of gasoline around his dog and her five puppies on the porch of the family home in Grand Prairie, Tex.

He apparently had seen his grandpa use gasoline earlier to keep ants out.

But the gasoline vapor was ignited by a pilot light on a dryer or water heater,

Study after study proves it — cayenne pepper is a super spice that cures everything from high blood pressure and heart disease to ulcers and baldness, often in a matter of hours!

Dr. John Christopher

In a story dated April 25, 1989, Dr. John Christopher told NEWS readers how cayenne cured an astonishing variety of illnesses and afflictions when sipped in tea, sprinkled liberally on food or rubbed on the skin.

After further review, we discovered sensational medical studies from doctors and researchers in Asia, Europe and the United States which conclusively prove that cayenne is one of the safest and the most potent medicines known to man.

These experts included the American Drs. John Gunn and Johnson Jordan, East Indian researcher K.M. Nadkarni, Korean Dr. M.S. Kim, American herbalist Jethro Kloss and British botanist Samuel Thompson.

Their findings mirrored those of Dr. Christopher, who began to use cayenne to lower his own dangerously high blood pressure at the age of 28 and later prescribed it for hundreds of his own patients.

As with any medicine, you should consult your doctor before using cayenne to treat or cure anything.

With that in mind, here are some of the ailments Dr. Christopher and the other experts prescribed cayenne for. To make tea, add one teaspoon cayenne to one cup warm water.

● Coughs: Mix one part cayenne to three parts molasses or honey. Take as needed.

● Constipation: One cup cayenne tea as needed.

● Dentures: A 87-year-old man with 28 percent hearing loss drank three cups of cayenne tea a day until his hearing improved to that of a healthy 30-year-old man.

● Sprains: Boil one tablespoon cayenne in one pint cider vinegar for 10 minutes. Apply to skin as needed.

● Impotence: A single cup of cayenne tea a day can cure impotence, although some patients require several days for a complete reversal of symptoms.

● Stomach Ulcers: In the case of one man, three cups of the spicy cayenne tea, taken daily, banished the pain of ulcers overnight and eventually cured the patient completely.

● High Blood Pressure: Dr. Christopher drank a cup of cayenne tea three times a day to lower his own high blood pressure. It returned to normal and stayed there.

● Hemorrhoids: A karate expert ate three teaspoons of cayenne on his food daily until his hemorrhoids disappeared.

● Bleeding: Cayenne sprinkled into a cut quickly stops the bleeding instantly. Use as much as needed to fill the wound.

● Heart Trouble: Dr. Christopher believed cayenne to be "one of the finest tonic for the heart." He recommended one cup of cayenne tea daily for all around good health.

● Fat: Mix equal parts cayenne and baby oil, apply liberally to waistline and cover with plastic wrap at bedtime. As incredible as it sounds, Dr. Christopher reported that people lost up to one inch of flab by using cayenne overnight. The same treatment reportedly eliminates ugly cellulite.

● Circulatory Problems: Literally one of cayenne on food stimulates circulation and reduces harmful deposits in veins and arteries.

● Baldness: Vigorously massage the bald, cayenne-laden mixture on balding area daily to stimulate new and revitalized hair growth. You can expect to see results within days.

● Muscle Pain: Massage the baby cayenne mixture into skin over the aching muscle as often as necessary to banish pain. Stamina respond in the same treatment.

● Digestive Problems: A teaspoon of cayenne sprinkled daily on food aids indigestion and improves the health and condition of stomach tissue.

● Colds, Flu, Sore Throat: Sip one cup of cayenne tea three times daily to stop or ward them off.

● Skin Tone: A single cup of cayenne tea sipped daily improves skin tone and gives it a healthy, youthful glow. It will make you look 10 years younger.

● Longevity: A single cup of cayenne tea sipped daily boosts the body's defenses against disease and improves all the body's systems, which can add years to your life.

● Memory: Three cups of cayenne tea daily can increase your brain power and dramatically sharpen your memory.

"Cayenne pepper is one of the greatest healing spices of all time. Yet it is ignored and ridiculed by the public," said Dr. Christopher, who studied the uses of herbs and cayenne at the Dominion Herbal College in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, and later he gained a reputation as one of America's most outstanding herbalists.

"I am convinced that there is nothing like cayenne," he added. "And you will find it applicable in all cases of ailments."

For more information on Dr. Christopher and cayenne pepper's amazing healing powers, write: The Layloyntse Institute for Basic Research, Inc., 913 Rio Road West, Charlottesville, Va. 22906.

Heart patient: It cured me!

By EARL STACK
Medical writer

Hiram Shannon was bedridden with a heart condition for 18 hellish months but he's up and around now — thanks to a miracle spice he read about in Weekly World News!

The 66-year-old retiree had suffered from a wildly irregular heartbeat and high blood pressure for most of his adult life. And when his condition worsened in October 1987, he went to bed and found that he rarely had the energy to get up.

All that changed when he read in the April 25, 1989, edition of The NEWS that herbalist John Christopher was touting cayenne pepper as a cure for everything from high blood pressure and ulcers to heart disease.

Shannon tried it. Twelve days later he was feeling much better. And three months later, the Sanford, Fla., man said, "There are times that I feel like I'm 20 years old.

"My heartbeat and blood pressure are back in normal and I'm back to doing all the chores around the house. I feel so good that I stay busy from daylight until after dark.

"I owe it all and give my sincere thanks to Weekly World News for publishing the article on cayenne pepper, and to Dr. Christopher for discovering its benefits."

An unlucky dog track bettor lost out on $1,200 in winning tickets because one of three dogs in his trifecta crossed the finish line upside down and backward.

Alfred Alchedlak picked #1's Broadway (#1), Ari Canaan (#3) and Oshkosh Zest (#8) to finish in that order in a 1986 race at Tampa Greyhound Track. Broadway won the race and Ari Canaan finished second, but Oshkosh Zest trounced the second place dog from behind as they neared the finish line. The collision caused Oshkosh Zest to flop across the finish line upside down and backward, beating Sly Little Foxy, who finished fourth.

But track officials disqualified Oshkosh Zest, ruling the dog fell before he crossed the finish line.

"I died right there," said Alchedlak. "They say I wasted out the required 48 hours to make a protest. The NEWS. "Because of that they won't even listen to what I have to say."

He has sued the track, the judges and the state Division of Pari-Mutuel Wagering. Each time the suits have been rejected by judges on technical grounds.

Alchedlak's most recent suit was dismissed by Circuit Judge [illegible] this week because Alchedlak was too late in filing an appeal of a decision by state racing judges.

The bugging-eyed gambler claims the dog track's photo finish camera clearly shows Oshkosh Zest finishing third, a split-second before the dog flipped in the air.

"They're trying to cheat me out of my money," he said.

Frankenstein doc's bones found in rugged mountains

MAD scientist Floyd Howard was missing for seven years.

He took a 'suicide walk' in 1983, say cops

By RICK DONOVAN
Staff writer

The bones of a mad scientist who once operated a "Frankenstein laboratory" were found by hikers in the rugged Colorado mountains where he disappeared in 1983.

Authorities said that there is no doubt that Floyd Ferrell Howard took a "suicide walk," intending to die of exposure in the frigid wilderness.

The discovery sparked hi-yarn memories by residents of Central City, Colo., where Howard was once run out of town because of his weird experiments which some say involved mind control. Van Cutler, a former Central City cop, recalled the "Frankenstein laboratory" in the house where Howard and his first wife Vicki lived.

"Everybody in town talked about the fact that Howard had strange electronic experimental stuff in his house," Cutler said. "His experimentation on his wife. People who were constantly in and out of that house were all worried."

Cutler had stopped Vicki Howard for drunken driving in August 1971. A few minutes after she was jailed, a dispatcher found her dead, hanged in her cell.

"People who knew Vicki before said that no matter what happened, Howard was the cause of Vicki's death," declared Bill Long, another former Central City cop.

It was Long's investigation into Howard's electronic experiments that ignited the anger of a band of Central City residents who run Howard out of town. The outcast then settled in nearby Boulder. Long and entering Howard's laboratory was like he had "walked through a gate into another world . . . another place."

"I was not myself," he explained. "I felt very strange. Things I had never felt before in my life. I even felt (Howard) thinking about me."

Howard's skeletal remains were turned over to his parents, said Sheriff's Lt. Dennis Potter.

How to live longer — but is it worth it?

A British birth control expert has discovered the secret of long life for men — castration when young!

Professor Dennis Lincoln made his amazing discovery during experiments to create a contraceptive pill for men.

"High levels of the hormone testosterone, produced by men, can increase the chance of a heart attack," Lincoln told a London conference.

"The men here would live 10 to 15 years longer if they had been castrated when they were young."

But he added: "Most of you would prefer to live well and die young."

BRIDE HAS BEEN JILTED AT THE ALTAR 9 TIMES!

"I'VE given up on men," says would-be bride Marta Rausa.

By ANN HUGHEY
(Correspondent)

Unlucky bride Marta Rausa says she's given up on men and marriage — after being jilted at the altar nine times!

The would-be bride says she's been so humiliated by men that she's vowed to remain a spinster for the rest of her life.

"I've been laughed at and humiliated to such a point that I've decided never to marry," said Marta, who's a school-teacher.

The Barcelona, Spain, woman's tale of woe began when she was a young girl of 17, according to relatives quoted in La Estrella.

She was all set to marry her high school sweetheart Francisco Vega when her dream ended in heartache. "Francisco and Marta grew up together," said her aunt, Maria Laporta. "It should have been the happiest day of her life.

"We waited at the church for two hours but Francisco never showed up. He left poor Marta standing at the altar."

To get over her heartache, Marta went to visit relatives in Valencia, where she met Arturo Salgado.

They started dating and were introduced their engagement.

"I walked down the aisle," Marta remembered. "Then Arturo simply didn't show up. He didn't even give me a reason."

The grief-stricken young woman left home again, this time for a teaching assignment in Madrid. It proved unfortunate, but on more times she made plans to wed and each time the groom backed out at the last minute.

After the last man left her standing at the altar, the hapless bride swore off to Barcelona. But when she made plans to marry this past June, that wedding also ended in disaster.

The local press had a field day with the poor woman's misfortune but a saddened but wiser Marta still has her pride.

"The last 15 years of my life have been a nightmare," said Marta, "but I'm not going to let it destroy me. I'm just swearing off men for good. I get a cat instead. They're a whole lot better and cheaper to have around and they won't break my heart."

Are You "Different?"

Are you one who is known, in the language of mysticism, as a "Seeker"?

Do you think it possible that space people once visited Earth? And perhaps built the pyramids of antiquity?

Do you believe in the Ancient Wisdom taught in secret doctrines only in the initiates of the Mystery Schools of long ago? Did you know there is a Mystery School in existence today? There is. It's called Astara.

By taking just a moment to read this yourself, you can quickly tell if you are the special kind of person who benefits from the teachings of Astara. If you are such a person, the rewards may very well be lifelong.

If you are the unique person who benefits from Astara, you ...

- Think for yourself. You want the privilege to accept or reject any teaching you may receive.
- You are an adventurous seeker. You don't mind going beyond the conventional to more advanced ideas.
- You want to grow in spiritual understanding. You want to feel God, if possible, experience it yourself. What the great sages and seers of all time have known.
- You are interested in Ancient Wisdom teachings, spiritual healing, ESP, eastern and western philosophy as opposed to dogmatic psychobabble.

Do you qualify? Do you fulfill these characteristics? If so, you will want to know more about Astara, the organization which, for more than 50 years, has been helping other special seekers like you reach for the stars within yourself.

It costs nothing to learn whether or not you and Astara are compatible to fulfill every potential you possess for self-growth and self-realization. A booklet, Finding Your Place in the Golden Age, explains it to you. It's yours for the asking. No obligation.

By JACK ALEXANDER

A 58-year-old bachelor who lives with his mother is accused of videotaping his unsuspecting neighbors — whenever they used their bathrooms.

"We have a lot of people who were videotaped . . . many of them in the nude," said Police Sgt. E. W. Day, who said cops seized 101 videotapes from Bruce Nickel's home in Cloverly, Md.

Nickel, an electrical engineer who does consulting work, was charged with unlawful electronic surveillance and trespassing. He was released on bail.

"To tape someone in their own bathroom taking a shower or relieving themselves is a gross invasion of privacy," said Sgt. Day.

"My God, if a person can't expect to have a little privacy in their bathroom, where can they go?" he added. The video camera was set up on a tripod at night, according to cops.

"The camera was aimed at a different bathroom window every night and this went on for at least nine months," said Sgt. Day.

The tapes show long periods of darkness until lights were turned on in the bathrooms. Later, the bathroom scenes were edited together.

"People in the neighborhood are more than angry about the sneaky pictures," said Sgt. Day. "You can imagine their curiosity about who has been photographed doing what."

One of the neighbors found the camera in an evergreen at his aimed at his second-floor bathroom.

"He noticed a light in the alley, went down to check and found the camera," said Sgt. Day.

The camera is owned by the city and Nickel has access to it and editing equipment as a member of the city's cable television committee, explained authorities.

He taped private doings for 9 months, say police

Exploding cocktail sets drinker ablaze

By JAMES SMITTERS

A man was severely burned when his shirt was turned into a blazing torch — by the flaming cocktail he was drinking!

The unidentified man suffered first- and second-degree burns on his chest and arm when he spun drink, called a Russian roulette, suddenly exploded in a lounge in Boca Raton, Fla.

It isn't clear what caused the cocktail to explode.

Rapist locked in iron mask for 27 years

By NICK McVICKER
Newspaperman

A man who raped a teenage girl was captured by her family and friends and forced to wear a heavy iron mask for 27 hellish years!

Rino Calarco, 49, was spared the agony of living out his life in the hideous contraption when federal authorities found him chained in a shed near tiny Tirano, Italy, newspapers said.

Officers who removed the padlocked mask found that his beard had stopped growing.

He's permanently disfigured — and completely insane

GRUESOME sight of Rino Calarco startled authorities

Even more horrible, his once-handsome face had become nothing more than a lice-ridden pad of scar tissue thanks to a skin disease.

"I certainly don't condone criminal behavior, but nothing this man could have done in his life warranted this kind of savage punishment," special agent Angelo Vocel told reporters. "Wearing that mask for so long robbed him of his looks, health and sanity."

Newspapers said Calarco's crime was the rape of a 16-year-old woman in 1943.

Sickened by the victim's tragic [illegible] friends and family, he was locked in the mask they had forged by a blacksmith — and chained to a shed post here.

"The mask had three open[illegible] for his eyes and a slot on its mouth [illegible] drink and breathe," said Vocel.

"By the time we were alerted by an informant, Mr. Calarco was permanently disfigured and is totally, completely insane." Although it is obvious who punished the rapist, it is doubtful that anyone will be charged because at least 16 individuals were involved, said Vocel.

CATFIGHT!

One of the contestants is apparently dissatisfied with the results of judging at a cat show in Weston, Conn. He attempts to cat another straight while the cowering owner looks on.

Tips for gals traveling alone

Women drivers traveling alone can save themselves a world of trouble by following these simple safety tips from the Automobile Club Insurance Company:

By JON BERGER

● Keep your car in good mechanical condition so you won't have a breakdown in a lonely or dark place.

● Hold your car keys in your hand as you approach your parked car. Don't wait until you reach the car to grope around in your purse.

● Check the back seat before entering the car.

● Never pick up hitchhikers.

● If your car becomes disabled, lock yourself in and turn on the four-way flashers until the police come for help.

● Be wary of using a citizen's band radio to call for help. Calls are sometimes intercepted by people with the wrong motives.

● If you have a flat tire in a [illegible] drive slowly to the nearest service station or public place. Even if you help a tire, you have not risked your life.

● Avoid shortcuts that take you through unfamiliar or unsafe areas.

● If your car is rammed from behind and the hit-and-run driver is deliberate, always stay in the car with the doors locked. Wait for the police to arrive.

● Never follow a stranger who offers to help you find your way on an unfamiliar road or street.

Wait in your vehicle and ask for directions.

Sexy Kim Basinger shocker:

SHE LOVES TO ACT LIKE A SLUT!

"I was very hungry for adventure at an early age," says sexy screen star Kim Basinger.

'I dream I'd like to walk naked down the street'

Curvy Kim Basinger is famous for her steamy screen roles — remember Blind Date and 9½ Weeks? But they don't hold a candle to her passionate real life.

Dubbed the sexiest woman in the world, Kim got an early start in the sexual sweepstakes. "I've always been aware of my sexuality," she says. "At age 11 I discovered kissing — but I never ever wanted to just kiss, it had to be French kiss. I was very hungry for adventure at an early age."

And check out Kim mind-blowing attitude. "I'd just think, get out there and grab it. What a waste of time, not having a shot." Ooo-wee!

It doesn't matter where or when is Kim. "I have been known to concern with sex look across a crowded room. I find that fairly exciting," she says.

Kim can't escape her own eroticism even when she's sleeping, which she hates to do alone by the way.

"Sometimes I have this dream that I'd like to walk naked down the street and leave all my fans behind," she says.

Kim's erotic dreams to be over the day and the night. "I know that in my time here I am going to grab it, do it and die," she says. "While I have my looks I will use them."

ELVIS: gets the record to his beloved mother

YOUNG Elvis and ELVIS in early hit vinyl record

Special preview of first Elvis recording!

Everybody's talking about the scheduled Aug. 17 release of Elvis Presley's first record, My Happiness, by RCA.

The disc is so rare that only a handful of people have heard it!

The tune was written by Betty Peterson and Jimmy Sacgnatino, and The King liked it so much that he paid $3.98 to cut his own version at a recording studio in Memphis in 1953, when he was a boy of 17.

He gave the record to his mother but it vanished — and Elvis himself could never remember what happened to it. In 1955, airline pilot Ed Leek of Key Largo, Fla., revealed that The King left it at his house in the mid-'50s. RCA bought the rights to the tune and plans to release it on a new album called Elvis: The Great Performances on Friday the 17th.

Here are the words:

My Happiness

Evening shadows make me blue
Everyday away from you
Morning noon and nighttime too
My happiness

Everyday I contemplate
Dreaming of your tender kiss
Always thinking how I miss
My happiness

Whether skies are gray or blue
Any place on earth will do
Long as I can be with you
My happiness

A million years it seems
Here gone by since we shared our dreams
But I'll hold you again
There'll be no blue memories then

Divers find treasure ship that sank off Florida in 1622

SUNKEN GOLD MAY BE WORTH BILLION$

By AUGUST MIKUS
Correspondent

Treasure hunters exploring the wreck of a Spanish galleon that sank 368 years ago have found a bar of gold bullion that may be part of a haul worth billions of dollars!

It is the first major prize uncovered by the salvage team who discovered the site of what could prove to be the richest wreck ever found, just off the coast of Florida.

By itself the gold bar recovered from its resting place on the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico is worth more than $165,000.

But that's a tiny fraction of the value

SUNKEN NAUL: A gold bar from the Atocha, worth more than $165,000.

experts place on the rest of the sunken treasure.

"We are talking big numbers. This find is simply fantastic," says Dan Bagley, spokesman for Seabank Deep Ocean Technology of Tampa, Fla., which is recovering the wreck.

Experts say that even those conservative estimates put the value of the treasure at $1 billion.

Heavily laden with gold, silver and jewels, the Atocha was part of a fleet of ships which sank during a hurricane in 1622.

And authorities confirm that the gold bar recovered by the high-tech treasure hunters was registered to the Spanish vessel.

The gold bar was discovered almost by accident.

The research team was setting up preliminary investigations when their sophisticated equipment pinpointed an object 1,500 feet below sea level.

"We swam away the dirt and there it was — a solid gold bar," said Dan. "It was a total surprise for us to come up with the gold this quickly.

"We expected the gold to be further down but just lying on the surface."

The bullion bar averages almost 23 carats in terms of purity, and bears assay marks which prove it belongs to the Spanish vessel. The wreck is the first deep-water galleon to be discovered and successfully explored. Other ships were in shallow water.

The Seabank team has employed the latest deep-sea technology. Some of it developed thousands of miles away by an exploration firm in Great Britain's North Sea area.

For their undersea exploration the team used a 32 metre remote-controlled robot whose nickname is Martin built by Amtech Offshore Ltd of Aberdeen Scotland.

Dan Bagley says an expedition will be opened to make sure that the expedition provides a wealth of archaeological and historical material -- as well as billions in bullion.

"Now that we have found gold we are not resting on," says Bagley.

"This operation will take as long as it takes."

Miss America bigwig wants contestants to cover up

Swimsuit ban is a stupid idea!

I'm madder than a bird-watcher with busted binoculars over the blitz who heads up the Miss America beauty pageant!

This meddlesome wants to ban the swimsuit competition, for crying out loud!

"I personally find it difficult to rationalize putting a young college woman in a swimsuit and high heel shoes," whines Leonard Horn, the pageant director who just outlawed photo sessions on the beach for these bathing beauties.

Well, excuuuuuse me! And not only that, but this mush-for-brains would like Miss America to be picked on how smart she is.

Wait, there goes the whole damn pageant!

Let's face it, most pretty girls aren't smart and most ugly ones are. That's because pinin' Janes don't get asked out on dates so they have more time to study. It's that simple.

They don't practice putting on lipstick and makeup because they never go anywhere and it doesn't do any good anyway.

Right getting brains before beauty in the contest and Miss America will have a dog that will scratch a mirror — and beg-ging to boot!

And they'll take the pageant off TV because what the hell is going to have to watch a bunch of sore-fed wallflowers parade around onstage? For the talent part of the competition, 99 percent of 'em will play the accordion and sing opera!

Great.

I get pig-boinng mad when they dumped Miss America mainly of swimsuits Bert Parks, who always sang "Here she comes — Miss America," on the show. But this has got the metal plate in my head — a little movement from the Korean War — better than a firecracker.

Brave California boy fights killer leukemia

"Mommy, am I going to die?"

Death is always on the mind of 5-year-old Jonathan Rondarez, who's been battling acute lymphoblastic leukemia for most of his young life.

After three years of bi-weekly chemotherapy treatment, Jonathan, who lives in Oceanside, Calif., has gotten used to being bald.

But he wonders how much longer it will go on.

His last relapse sent him into the hospital for 33 days. The dark youngster suffered through rashes, burning fevers, mouth sores and daily blood transfusions.

Doctors haven't given Jonathan's parents much hope. Even so, the spunky child has shown some signs of improvement while recovering at home without chemotherapy.

Loving parents Sharon and Pop Rondarez keep a close eye on Jonathan's diet and pray for a miracle. As a family they "talk" to his blood cells and tell them to get well.

"Come on, cells! Let's get our

College offers pop music degree

A British college is offering a course of study that's sure to be a hit with students — the world's first degree in pop music!

But professors at Salford College of Technology, near the Beatles' hometown of Liverpool, have already started classes for 30 students.

The course will be as hard as any other.

"This will be a demanding academic course of great rigor," said organizer Keith Wilson. The three-year course begins in September and so far 200 students have already applied for the 30 course openings.

It's claimed 61 lives since 1702!

BAFFLING 'CHAIR OF DEATH' KILLS AGAIN

KILLER chair's original owner put a curse on it after he was sentenced to hang for murder in 1702.

By BILL McGEE
Special Correspondent

Reporter Jonathan Sims slipped, fell and drowned in a bathtub two hours after he sat in England's baffling chair of death, apparently becoming its 62nd victim in the past 288 years!

"He was a fool to sit in the chair and I told him so," said Tony Kershaw, owner of the inn in Yorkshire where the eerie ash chair has been on display — and allegedly killing people — since 1702.

"If you sit in that chair you die," he added. "It's as simple as that."

Yorkshire authorities ruled that Sims' death was accidental but Kershaw insists that the man, like 61 people before him, was actually killed by a curse that original owner Tom Busby placed on the chair in 1702.

Convicted of murder and sentenced to hang, the outraged Busby spat out a curse on all who would dare to sit on his favorite ash chair after his death.

The chair remained in the pub that Busby called home. The inn was eventually renamed Busby Stoop and it is still in business today.

Among the 62 people who died shortly after sitting in the antique chair were two Royal Air Force fighters who were killed instantly in a car wreck, a construction worker who fell from a building, a secretary who was crushed under the wheels of a bus and reporter Sims, who drowned in his bathtub.

Said Kershaw: "Some people think I should destroy the chair but it's a piece of history I can't bear to part with.

"Besides, I didn't make any one sit in it.

"I warn those at the pub and if they still want to give it a try, well, that's their decision to make."

THIS man dares to sit in cursed seat — & becomes victim no. 62!

REPORTER Jonathan Sims died after he slipped and fell in his bathtub — two hours after sitting in the cursed chair.

BELOW: The Busby Stoop is still home of the killer chair, where it's remained for the past 288 years

"Roaches are NOT household pets!"

Landlord Jim Kennedy was fed up renting to the dregs of society so he placed a classified ad in the newspaper — setting standards for would-be tenants.

The ad readers that ran:

● Have some type of school ing or at least know there are other objections besides the one starting with "F" and ending with "ing."

● Have a job or at least give the appearance that they would get one.

● Realize that roaches are not household pets.

● Pay the rent on time with a good check.

● Realize they must have a doctor's prescription to use drugs.

● Be committed to their partner or at least know the correct spelling of his or her last name.

"I will rent to anybody — black, green or whatever — as long as they take care of the product and pay the rent on time," said Kennedy, 45, of Kingston. "I'll be the retired Marine who's tired of dealing with people who don't have the common courtesy to pay their rent on time."

Revolutionary DENTISTS' FORMULA Now Available For Home Use!

Good News!... GUARANTEED WHITER TEETH in just 3 minutes or it's FREE!

Dynamic, New Breakthrough in Cosmetic Dentistry Removes Unsightly Nicotine and Food Stains!

If, like most people, you're embarrassed by unsightly coffee, food and nicotine stains that have deadened the natural whiteness and brightness of your smile, we have a one amazing good news for you! Now you can whiten and brighten your teeth in the privacy of your home — and at a mere fraction of what you'd expect to pay. You don't have to pay hundreds or thousands of dollars in a dentist's office. You don't even have to pay the nationally advertised TV price of $50 to achieve the same remarkable results.

THE SAME FORMULA, USED BY PROFESSIONALS BUT AT DIRECT-TO-YOU SAVINGS!

Yes, Forever White employs the same scientific formulation used by dentists to restore your teeth to their natural whiteness. But by buying direct from us you don't have to pay for those "professional" overheads. You simply use this completely safe method of whitening your teeth just as often as you want — and all you pay is the price of this revolutionary kit and in the comfort of your own home in just minutes, when you have the time!

HOW THE FOREVER WHITE SYSTEM WORKS

FOREVER WHITE is not a paste or abrasive that can damage the precious enamel of your teeth as many conventional whiteners often do. FOREVER WHITE is a completely safe, totally harmless and clinically-tested and proven effective way to remove ugly stains and blemishes from the surface of your teeth. All you have to do is start with the Conditioning Pre-Rinse before applying the Oxygenation Bleaching Gel. You complete each treatment with a gentle polishing cream that both cleanses and whitens the teeth. It's that simple, and you'll be delighted with your brand-new smile just 3 minutes after using FOREVER WHITE the very first time!

THE CHOICE IS YOURS . . . SPEND HUNDREDS . . . OR SPEND JUST $10 FOR THE SAME RESULTS!

You all may have to spend at least $50 to get the same results you'd get anywhere else at one-fifth the price. And if anybody's got the kind of miraculous improvement in the form of many shades and permanently whiter teeth as with FW, don't you think the natural person would grumble, complain and refund. No questions asked. So you see, you have absolutely nothing to lose and a lifetime of a more beautiful smile to gain.

ATTENTION: SMOKERS & EX-SMOKERS PLEASE READ CAREFULLY

FOREVER WHITE is not a tooth-paste, tooth polish or tooth powder. It's the best Cosmetic Tooth Whitening System designed for home use on the market. FOREVER WHITE will whiten and brighten even the most stained teeth. FOREVER WHITE will work for you. Ex-cigarette manufacturers have been possessing whiter teeth for years. But we guarantee it — or we'll refund your money.

Top Soviet psychic calls it 'a mark of destiny'

GORBY'S BIRTHMARK SHAPED LIKE MAP OF RUSSIA!

BIZARRE birthmark looks just like the Soviet Union. If you stand a map of the huge country on its side

By LAUREL ROWE
The Universal

Communist kingpin Mikhail Gorbachev is the reincarnation of Russian [redacted] Catherine the Great — and the beet-colored birthmark on his forehead is an exact replica of a map of Russia!

Those are the startling claims of renowned Soviet psychic Olga Yeremia, who insists the incredible birthmark is a sign that God has handpicked Gorbachev to rule Russia for the second time.

"The blemish on President Gorbachev's head is no blemish at all, but a mark of destiny," amazing Olga told colleagues at a Conference on Parapsychology in Brussels, Belgium.

"Look at the mark carefully and compare it with a map of our great country. The outlines are one and the same — and this is no outlandish coincidence.

"Catherine the Great introduced many outstanding reforms in Russian society in the 18th century.

"Now, embodied as Mikhail Gorbachev, she has returned to perform a similar role 200 years later."

The Soviet supersychic was summoned to speak at the conference on the value of Soviet showbiz productions that evoked the world.

During a single TV show tipped to Moscow last January, astonishing Olga

- Accurately foretold the precise week the Berlin Wall would fall
- Predicted the time and location of Japan's catastrophic earthquake in Iran
- Divorced baffled peace to the Mideast of three Russian mass murderers

"Olga is the most incredible psychic alive today," said Professor Charles Garma, chairman of the Parapsychology Conference.

"Based upon past performance her vision of Gorbachev's past and current lives must be viewed with utmost seriousness."

Meanwhile, back in Moscow, Gorby and his Kremlin cronies were impressed.

"Mr. Gorbachev considers that kind of talk to be total nonsense," scoffed a Communist Party spokesman.

EERIE reincarnated Mikhail Gorbachev.

Bizarre blemish SHOCKING PROOF that the Commie ruler lived before — as Catherine the Great!

What a DOPE!

By DICK DONOVAN

If you have any doubt that only dopes use dope, read this — it should nail it down for you!

Deputy Mark Steven Ray was making his car though a neighborhood in Charlotte, N.C., known for its heavy drug traffic when he was stopped by a cop.

Officer C.L. Flowe asked him to state the nature of his business. Ray replied, "I was looking for some dope."

The officer then searched Ray's car and allegedly found two small bags of heroin under the driver's seat.

Sad. Only dopes use dope!

WOMEN: While these WWII Air Force Style Bomber Jackets were originally designed for men, we can't keep the women away from them. Small and Medium Women: We recommend you order size Men's Small.

He's beautiful on the inside but ugly on the outside

Dear Dotti: My boyfriend is the kindest, most loving and sincere man I've ever met. He treats me well and I love him madly but he's ugly as sin and I'm embarrassed to go out in public with him. I'm confused, Dotti. Is it possible for someone to love a person but not be physically attracted to him? That's the way I feel but somehow it doesn't make sense. — Unsure in Greensburg

Dear Unsure: Don't be a pea-brain! If you really loved this man, you'd be attracted to him mentally AND physically. Since you aren't, you might as well do your self and him a big favor and get yourself a new man!

Pal's planning a lightweight wedding

Dear Dotti: A friend of mine is getting married in a few months and he's planning a very small, intimate wedding. He's already made it clear to his friends that he expects nice gifts.

But he's such a cheapskate that he's not going to have a reception. Should I be obliged to come up with a gift and send for such a stingy person? — J.D. in Detroit

Dear J.D.: If your pal won't spring for a reception, you certainly don't owe him a gift. As far as I'm concerned a wedding is not a wedding unless there's a reception!

Confidential

Dear Curious in Reno: I don't care what your boyfriend claims! Countess shouldn't have holes in both ends!

Dear Disappointed Gal in Lawrence: Have you been told why they call her "Sirens"?

Dear Cowboy in San Bernardino: I can't think of any good reason to keep your girlfriend boarded.

Dear Hypocrisy in St. Petersburg: If you're so smart, why do you date them?

Dear Unknown in Old Lyme: You could break your neck getting a scoop like that!

Dear Flat Gut in Tall Timbers: In this case, the best things DON'T come in small packages!

Dear Dotti: My 19-year-old son just graduated from high school and he doesn't have any plans for the future. He's a smart boy but he refuses to go to college. In fact, all he wants to do is drive a delivery truck for a living. He's also addicted to his stuffed animals. He's living at home at present. What can I do, Dotti? — Concerned Mom in Skrylking

Dear Concerned: Your son has obviously made a decision to go in the school of hard knocks and the only thing you can do is grit your teeth and let him learn the hard way!

Beau's 'scratches' look like hickies

Dear Dotti: My boyfriend was out all night two nights and came home with what I say are hickies all over his neck. He claims they're not scratches. Should I believe him? — Disappointed in Omaha

Dear Disappointed: Absolutely not! He's been fooling around!

My stupid boss drives me crazy

Dear Dotti: Are all bosses so obnoxious, arbitrary and cheap as mine? It seems like the harder I work the less respect and money I get. Sometimes I feel like giving up and going on welfare. — Wandering in Jacksonville

Dear Wandering: I won't speak for all bosses but I sure did! You should enter the secretarial, computer and accounting fields where employers are desperate for help. Then you'll be in a position to demand more and respect like they were crazy to get it. If I were you, I'd find a new job and fast. You obviously deserve better!

Where can I find a fella?

Dear Dotti: I'm a bright, attractive, divorced lady and I've had nothing but bad experiences with men. How does a decent woman go about meeting nice, eligible guys? I'm getting desperate. — Wanting Mama in Tennessee

Dear Wanting Mama: Try singles and fitness clubs, churches, job sites and not least! If you check all those places and still can't find a fella, you must be a BEAT dude!

Dotti will answer your letters — and will do it like it, fast with no bar. C/o Weekly World News, 600 South East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33464.

Ask the Countess

How come I saw an old man in my mirror?

Dear Countess: Early this morning I looked in the mirror and instead of seeing myself — a 36-year-old woman — I saw a withered old man. I don't drink or take drugs so I know I wasn't hallucinating. Help me, Countess. Who was this man? — Puzzled in Macon

Dear Puzzled: The elderly man you saw was your great-great-grandfather, who wants to get in touch with you from the afterlife. Open your mind and heart to him and he will be able to cross the boundary between the living and the dead. I might add that you will benefit greatly from what he has to say.

* * *

Dear Countess: Do you give private readings? I have your book but I'd like to discuss my life and future with you at greater length. I'm quite wealthy, Countess. I'll pay ANYTHING for your time. — John in Arizona

Dear John: I stopped giving private readings years ago because I was being inundated with requests from all walks of life — whether they can afford my services or not!

* * *

Dear Countess: Is it really possible to communicate with plants? A dear friend of mine constantly touches and talks to her plants and they are so healthy and beautiful that they must be responding to her touch and voice. — Wondering in Birmingham

Dear Wondering: Of course people can communicate with plants! In fact, people can communicate with all of God's creations — dead or alive — if they put their minds to it!

* * *

Dear Countess: Two years ago I asked you to tell me if my runaway daughter was safe and would I ever see her again. You said she was safe and would come back home after meeting not her prince but a frog. I didn't believe you at the time but guess what? My daughter did come back home to Jesus IT. God bless you. Now I have a question. Will I ever see my daughter again? — Concerned in Topeka

Dear Concerned: I couldn't be happier for you and your daughter! It's situations like this that underscore my belief that psychic powers are a precious gift from God. I wish you good fortune in the future!

* * *

PERSONAL TO . . .

Randy in Atlanta: Your boss is quite literally willing to give you a raise — he just wants you to ask for it!

Stressed in Philadelphia: You are not cursed and your house isn't haunted. I have recommended to you a special blessing that will banish your unfounded fears for good.

Confused in Scottsdale: Bill is not the man for you, my dear. Please don't waste your time on him. Instead, concentrate on finding a man who is worthy of your love.

KAYLA picks out a frame on her piano to entertain her stuffed bear, one of her favorite toys.

Little Kayla Edmondson was a picture-perfect baby — until a bizarre disease gave her a bright red clown nose! But she's as beautiful as ever to her loving parents, who have been told by doctors that the strange disease can disappear almost overnight.

Now Kayla's parents are waiting for the day when their precious daughter's nose is back to normal and they no longer have to protect her from hurting herself and strangers who point and stare.

"Underneath her clown nose is a sassy, stubborn nose and we're waiting for it," said Kayla's loving mom, Theresa. "But the pose she has is just as exciting. Kayla is already a beautiful child to us."

"The worst experience we had was in a fast-food restaurant where an employee started acting like a clown and saying nasty things about Kayla to everyone. It was awful."

The loving mom has found one way to help other families cope with the problem. While flipping through an old magazine she saw an article with a picture of a little girl who looked just like Kayla.

Since then Theresa and the other girl's mother, Cindy Deegan, have started a newsletter and support group for parents of children suffering from hemangioma.

"We write, share pictures and information," said Theresa. "It's a big help in the progress of kids whose hemangioma has gone away on its own because I can see what Kayla might look like one day."

PREACHER'S SHOCKING CONFESSION:

I torched my own church

. . . for insurance $$ to build a BETTER one, man tells cops

OOPS! He only wanted to damage the church, not destroy it. The soul-starved preacher's moments-right splitsecond went up in smoke when his fire blazed out of control and gutted the building, say cops.

COLLARED. Fiery preacher Paul Gray Jr.

By JACK ALEXANDER
Staff writer

Jailed preacher Paul Gray Jr. is accused of torching his own church so he could collect insurance money and build a better one.

"He only meant to burn the rear of the old church, but the flames spread so fast the whole place burned down," said Burlingame, Calif., Police Co[illegible] murder Gary Miguel. Preacher Gray, 32, and officers of the 200-member Seventh-day Adventist Church were in the process of remodeling the Alvarado church when they ran out of money.

"Rev. Gray told H wasn't his intent to burn down the church, but to destroy it partially so that insurance money would pay for renovations," said Cmdr. Minsel.

The desperate pastor sneaked over to the church at 3:30 a.m. and sprinkled gasoline around the back part of the church inside and out, according to police.

But when the preacher lit the gasoline, the blaze flared quickly "out of control in considerable sums of flames," said Cmdr. Minsel.

Fifty firemen from 11 companies battled the flames, which were out of control when the first units reached the scene.

Heat from the fire blistered paint and broke windows on the town hall next door. The town hall's communications tower was also burned.

"We called Rev. Gray but he wasn't home at 3:30 in the morning," said Cmdr. Minsel. "His wife said he was out for a walk."

When arson was determined to be the cause of the fire, cops planned to call the preacher in for questioning. "He was the only church official who was not at home at the time of the fire," said Cmdr. Minsel.

But Rev. Gray called police and confessed to setting the blaze, said Minsel. "He felt real bad and was relieved after confessing," Cmdr. Minsel added.

Rev. Gray is in the San Mateo County jail on $1 million bond, charged with arson. He is married but has no children.

Services and church school are being held in the First Presbyterian Church in Burlingame while Gray's congregation ponder their next move.

'Falling' in love!

A young couple fell head over heels for each other while sunbathing on a roof — and tumbled 20 feet.

David DeLellouis, 19, and Elena Ortiz, 20, kept their balance during a passionate kiss on an apartment complex in El Paso, Tex.

"Things got a little frisky. They fell 20 feet to the patio," said Police Lt. Gary White.

Both were hospitalized with cuts and bruises.

Miss Ortiz suffered a concussion and other head injuries.

PLEASE DON'T DIE!

MAXIMILLIANO Valdés cradles his wounded brother Edwardo after he was shot by a thief

Oliver Baldwin

"Please don't die! Please don't die!"

That was the heart-rending plea anguished Maximilliano Valdés cried out over and over again as he cradled his critically wounded brother in his arms moments after he was gunned down on a New York City subway train.

Maximilliano's 20-year-old brother Edwardo was unaware that he was one of three thugs who had refused their demand to rip them his money. The Brooklyn subway train that was taking them to a park for an afternoon of fun and relaxation when the trio of punks suddenly turned the day into a living nightmare.

It was broad daylight and there were other passengers in the car when the bandit brandished their guns. They told Edwardo to hand over the money at the

How working gals improve chances for promotion

Six common bad attitudes prevent women from winning promotions on the job, says a top expert. But you can overcome them — and start climbing the ladder to success.

Here are the attitudes to avoid:

● "Pregnant one — or about"

When a female employee squawks about women's rights, or threatens legal action, she gains a reputation as a troublemaker that jeopardizes her career, said Robert D. Snelling Sr., president of Snelling and Snelling, one of the world's largest employment agencies.

"Threats don't win promotions — [illegible] business wise and diplomacy do," said Snelling. "Ask your boss what you can do to make yourself more valuable."

● "I'm not good enough."

Some women feel they lack the qualifications to move up simply because they're women, he said. "But women today have [illegible] ever in [illegible] lets of times your own boss knows you want to be considered for promotion it is excellent first step because it will give you much needed confidence in yourself."

● Embarrassment — taking things too personally.

"When you're working in a male-dominated business environment, there are going to be people that are sexist and disparaging to women," he said. "If the comments aren't aimed directly at you, ignore them.

"Of course, you don't have to put up with bad language or dirty jokes, but if you overreact you're going to make your colleagues ill at ease. And employers who don't get along with these types are unlikely to be promoted."

● "Men don't credit women with having business sense — so why bother?"

"Women who believe this are shortchanging themselves. This attitude creates a 'What's the use of trying' attitude which blows the chance of promotion. It doesn't matter if you're a man or a woman, if you can do the job well, your value to the company will undoubtedly be recognized."

● "I have the right to take days off work when I want to."

This attitude could cost you your job, he said. "No one has that right.

"If you are going to need to take time off on a regular basis, discuss it with your boss. You may be able to negotiate more flexible hours."

● "Men are always more aggressive than women."

Not true, said Snelling. "Women can be just as aggressive, and when they are they're rarely overlooked for promotion."

'Catch of the century' lands fisherman in HOT water

HE MARRIED — and got ensnared! Whole lot of fish tale got Ron Mann in trouble with the law when he landed this huge 300-lb. sturgeon — and couldn't keep his mouth shut. Cops say the feisty fisherman earned the rare fish illegally.

State bigwigs hopping mad after he snags rare 7-foot, 8-inch whopper — with a net!

By JOE SERGER
Staff Writer

Dumbfounded fisherman Ron Mann hauled in a thundering 300-pound sturgeon, then wound up in a heap of trouble with the law — because he couldn't keep from bragging about the whopper he'd landed.

Mann corralled the king-size sturgeon in the Salmon Falls River on the Maine-New Hampshire border — and now both states have charged him with illegally snaring the colossal creature with a net.

He could face up to a year in jail and a $1,000 fine in Maine and a $500 fine in New Hampshire.

The South Berwick, Maine, man has pleaded innocent to both charges. But the long arm of the law couldn't keep him from bragging about his remarkable catch.

Mann called the 7-foot, 8-inch fish the "catch of the day, the year, the century."

Mann, 34, said he was putting in a net he'd rent for smaller fish when he felt a tug and realized he'd nabbed something grander.

The fisherman used a rope to get his monster catch to shore. Then he had to hit it over the head with a hammer to kill it, he said.

Before long, Mann's fish story was making the rounds. And the most interested listeners were the fish and game folks, who not only filed charges against him but seized his fish as well.

And the lawman's outrage grew when they cut the sturgeon open and found 30 pounds of eggs inside. "I'm not happy at all," said Maine Marine Patrol officer Jonathan Wright. "A lot of potential sturgeons try dead."

And while Mann awaits trial, experts are trying to figure out how the whopping sturgeon got into the Salmon Falls River in the first place.

"That's the first sturgeon we've seen in that river in 40 years," said Brian Beaudoin of the New Hampshire Fish and Game Department.

RATS! Boss' joke backfires

A company said the boss suffered nightmares and has been too jumpy to return to work ever since a boss tossed a stuffed animal at her — and she thought it was a real rat.

"It's not that I'm a frightened entire person. I am very, very afraid of mice," said Renee Brown of Durham, N.C.

Miss Brown began to hyperventilate when the stuffed creature was tossed against her elbow.

"It appears to be an ill-advised practical joke," said a spokesman for the Duke University Medical Center, where Miss Brown is begin treated for her condition.

Baby's ghost begs: 'Please bury me!'

Tiny spirit's 73-year search for peace finally ends

The ghost of a baby that roamed an apartment building for 73 years vanished when the remains of his unburied body were found and finally laid to rest.

"His was a troubled spirit but with the blessing of the clergy and a proper burial he is free at last," said Hellen Veisart, a leading parapsychologist who found the tot's skeleton in a crib in the attic of the old apartment building near Basel, Switzerland.

"The tragedy is that it took over 70 years for us to find his remains and bury them so he could find his peace. His frequent appearances in the hallways of the building and the apartments themselves were painful cries for help — cries that residents heard but through ignorance and fear couldn't do anything about."

Alaina Gruber, 57, was one of many apartment dwellers who claimed to have seen the ghost since it was first spotted in the spring of 1917.

Like other tenants who told friends and reporters what they had encountered, she was frightened at first. "But after the initial shock, my heart went out to him," she said.

"He was a sweet little thing, no older than 2 or 3. And you could tell he was sad and in great pain.

"He was never visible for more than a few seconds. But he was always whimpering. The only words I ever heard him utter were 'Bury me. Mommy, bury me.'"

Claude Stober, who bought the old apartment building from its elderly caretaker in 1969, told reporters that the toddling ghost — clad in diapers, high-top leather shoes and a blue summer shirt — always seemed to gravitate to third windows on the north side of the building.

"He would pass through the windows of the cemetery across the street," said Stober. "Now we know why."

Although the spirit reportedly appeared hundreds of times over the years, Veisart only learned about him in January.

"I was visiting friends in Basel and they happened to tell me about the ghost, which was something of a legend in the area," Veisart said.

"I went to the apartment to talk with the owner and tenants and immediately realized that he was bound to an earthly plane by some terrible injustice.

"It was because close to one that he longed to be buried at [illegible] for a search of two days we found his remains in a crib in the attic. They were wrapped in yellowed newspapers dated March 22, 1917."

Veisart alerted local authorities, who were unable to identify the remains or determine the cause of death. Judging from the size of the child's bones, a doctor estimated that he was between 2 and 3 years old when he died.

"It's been several weeks since we buried him and he hasn't appeared since," said Veisart. "It was 73 years coming. But he has finally risen to a higher plane, I'm convinced."

WAR vet Scott Hunter beat a possible jail term.

Dad locks up flag-burner son

. . . and throws the key away!

SHATTY teen Larry Hunter thinks angry dad got real.

War veteran Scott Hunter locked his son in a dark basement prison and threw away the key after the boy burned an American flag on the Fourth of July!

Larry Hunter, 17 was incarcerated for 12 days before a neighbor heard his cries for help and alerted the police.

The young man's father was charged with false imprisonment and faces a jail term if convicted but says he'd lock his son up all over again under the same circumstances.

"If it was up to me, he'd never see the light of day," said Hunter, who manages a field office for a major American manufacturer in Bielefeld, West Germany.

ung the Viet Cong in Nam just to see some punk — my own son — burn the flag like it was a piece of trash.

"The kid's lucky I didn't kill him. Maybe I should have."

The drama began when Hunter, 37, and his son got into a violent argument over the flag-burning issue that's been raging in America for months.

Larry thinks flag-burning is a constitutionally protected expression of free speech, reportedly whipped a cigarette lighter out of his pocket and set fire to the tiny paper flag that his dad had planted in the center of a special Fourth of July cake.

In the statement to police, the father said he knocked his son out with a right hook and locked him in the basement of their home "to punish the SOB for what he had done."

"What the hell was I supposed to do — give him a medal?" he continued. "Nobody's going to burn the flag in front of me. Not my son. Not anybody.

...ment and threw away the key."

Larry Hunter has denied repeated requests for interviews but released a prepared statement in which he admitted that burning his dad's flag "was probably a mistake."

Under German law, Scott Hunter faces a fine and up to six months in jail if convicted as charged, authorities said.

How to tell if your mate's lying

You can tell when your mate is lying with these tips from an expert.

"Most liars can fool most people most of the time. But the most reliable clues are those responses a liar makes automatically and which he has little or no control over," explained Dr. Paul Ekman, professor of psychology.

For example, a person's voice usually rises in tone and gets louder when he lies, he explained. And look out for a false smile, which comes and goes rapidly.

A false smile just drops off the face, while a genuine smile fades away more gradually.

Also, watch your partner's eyes during a smile. In a false smile, the eye muscles are often used less than in a real smile. Another good tip-off that your mate is lying is the display of inappropriate feelings, said Dr. Ekman.

When a person lies, he often looks fear or worry — and you can spot these emotions right on his face if you know what to look for, said Dr. Ekman. A lying person shows fear by raising the eyebrows and pulling them together, according to Dr. Ekman.

"But a single gesture we've listed can produce this appearance deliberately," reminded Dr. Ekman, author of Telling Lies — Clues to Deceit in the Marketplace, Politics and Marriage.

And a lying person who is worried "will lift just the inner part of his eyebrows," the expert said. "Ordinarily, this movement will appear despite a person's best attempt to conceal these feelings."

So if, for example, your spouse says he's working late, you might ask him, "Why weren't you there when I called this evening?" If you spot fear or worry on his face, then, you know something's fishy.

But Dr. Ekman warned that a single clue isn't enough to determine when a person is lying.

"If a facial clue indicates that your mate is lying, you should try to continue talk with other clues, such as the tone of voice."

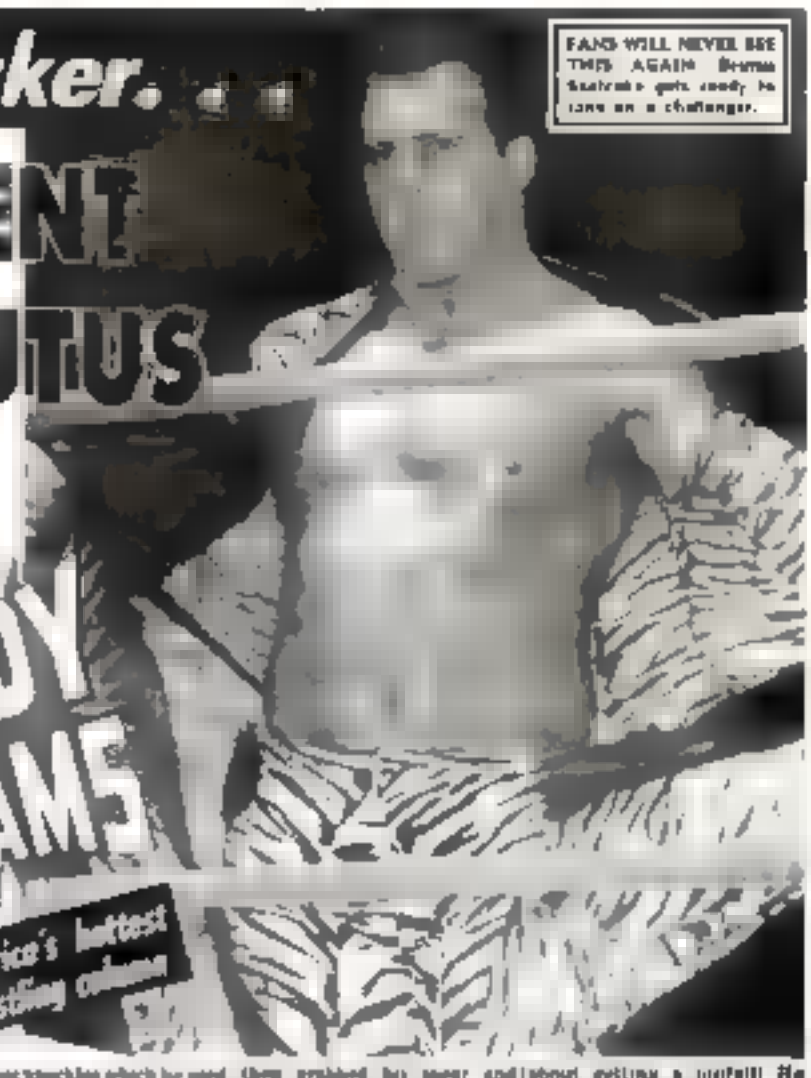
BOAT ACCIDENT WRECKS BRUTUS BEEFCAKE'S CAREER!



By PICKAX JACK O'BRIEN

Superstar Brutus Beefcake will never wrestle again!

A freak boating accident fractured Brutus' skull and shattered his face. And the massive damage has destroyed the once-handsome grappler's career, insiders say.

The accident occurred on July 4 when a waterskier flew through the air and her skis came crashing down on Brutus' head.

Doctors in Tampa, Fla., worked for ten hours to reconstruct the valiant wrestler's face and skull. Twelve plates were put into Beefcake's head. Every bone in his face was fractured and surgeons feared he would not survive the marathon operation.

Hulk Hogan held a round-the-clock vigil at Brutus' bedside for two weeks. He prayed to the big Wrestler in the sky for his friend's survival. Finally, his prayers were answered when his fallen comrade was taken off the critical list.

Beefcake and Hogan were tag team partners early in their careers. In fact, they called themselves The Hogan Brothers, although they're just close friends.

For the last three months Beefcake was involved in a bitter feud with "Mr. Perfect" and threatened to cut off Perfect's hair after he defeated him in the ring.

ABDULLAH THE BUTCHER was involved badly in a ring

FLASH RESULTS

In Acworth, Ga., wrestling fans witnessed one of the bloodiest tag team matches in the history of the squared circle! Bobby Jaggers and his son Bobby Jaggers Jr. faced Abdullah the Butcher and Craig Lake Graham. The Jaggers Family, from Dunlap, Kans., ganged up on Abdullah, who is now known as "The Good, Dough Man."

Abdullah and Graham used all sorts of brass knuckles which he used to pound on the head of Abdullah. Blood gushed from the forehead of the wrinkled old monster from Sudan. Usually throwing rights and lefts, Abdullah managed to get to his partner and tag to his partner Craig Lake Graham. Before Lake could throw one punch, he was hit with a vicious steel kick to the head by Bobby Jr. Then The Jaggers stomped on their semi-conscious victim. Graham began to bleed, and it looked like the evil Jaggers would be victorious.

Suddenly, Abdullah found a burst of energy and ran into the ring to deliver the dreaded Sudan Splash on each of the Jaggers boys.

With the fans cheering him on, Abdullah mastered the brass knuckles from Bobby Jr. and unleashed an attack. The crowd was horrified as the ring area covered in blood. All four men were disqualified, but the fans knew who is the better team!

In Hicksville, N.Y., Khasis The Egyptian Headhunter lady slammed Paul "Mr. Wonderful" Orndorff four times in a row to weaken the handsome hunk before she used a pair

HOW TO AVOID THESE MISTAKES IN ENGLISH

Amazing Book Corrects English Errors in Minutes

Many persons use the expression "You should lay down", or "You haven't done nothing today". Still others add the expression "between you and I" instead of "between you and me". Few know whether to spell certain words with one or two "l's" or "s's". Others fail to use commas and other punctuation marks to make their meaning clear.

Mistakes in English can cause you embarrassment, hold you back socially, and on the job it can make you look awkward and ruin other true pictures.

A new book Errors of English and Ways to Correct Them can protect you from possible mistakes in English. The book emphasizes the most common errors in grammar, spelling, punctuation and pronunciation that frequently cause trouble and embarrassment.

Here are a few things the book can do for you:

Perfect Grammar - About 25 errors in grammar make up virtually all mistakes in English. The book emphasizes the most common errors in grammar and gives you simple rules to make sure you never make these mistakes. Proper grammar is essential in expressing your ideas clearly and effectively in writing and speaking.

Perfect Spelling - About 170 words are continually misspelled. This book emphasizes the most frequently misspelled words. It shows you the proper spelling for these troublesome words and gives you simple rules to eliminate future spelling mistakes once and for all.

Perfect Punctuation - Knowing about 12 principles of punctuation can virtually eliminate embarrassing mistakes. The book covers the period, question mark, exclamation point, dash, hyphen, apostrophe, comma, semi-colon, colon, parentheses and quotation marks. Correct and clear writing is impossible without proper punctuation.

Perfect Pronunciation - About 97 words are commonly mispronounced or misused. This book emphasizes frequently mispronounced and misused words. It gives you simple rules to make sure you never make mistakes in pronunciation, use or diction. Having command of the English language instills self confidence and the respect of others.

Brave little half girl lives to help others

She's going to be a doctor when she grows up, says proud mom

By BEATRICE DEXTER
Correspondent

Little Lena Rozova faces her whole life with half a body — but the brave little tyke isn't the least bit discouraged by her problems.

In fact, the tenderhearted 2-year-old worries about making others happy and her parents predict she'll be a doctor when she grows up. She talks a blue streak and zips around on a special scooter that takes the place of her missing legs.

"She's the happiest child I've ever seen," said Lena's proud mother Olga, who lives in citizens in the Soviet Union.

"She never lets her physical problems get her down. She loves spending time in the hospital with all her friends who are doctors and nurses. Maybe some day she'll be able to help others like they have helped her."

When she was 11 months old, she began walking on her hands to move around more easily. Eventually she will be fitted with artificial legs, but for now a small fiberglass scooter helps her travel from place to place.

The little girl is so used to having only half a body that she isn't the least bit upset by her handicap, her mother says.

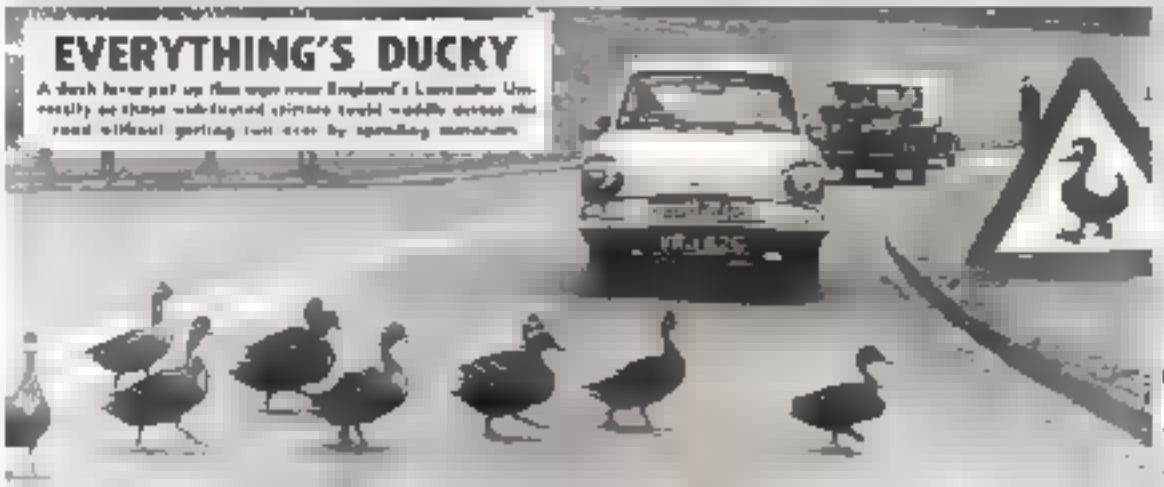
And her mind is so sharp she's way ahead of most kids her age when it comes to talking and making friends.

For months now, Lena has shown an interest in doctoring, tenderly nursing people who her little pet porcupine Lala and watch...

DEDICATED Lena Rozova, 2, gives warm hug to her injured baby porcupine at her home in Odessa, U.S.S.R. ...ing over her two dogs Scampy and Rich... and also Miss Popularity, wherever she stays at the hospital," her mother said. "She's not the least bit timid when she meets a stranger."

...said that she is very well-adjusted for such a little girl.

"They say she's going to go far in life — even though she has no legs to carry



Cops shoot down kids' keg party

Policemen in Edwardsville, Kans., really shot down a teen keg party when they grabbed their guns and started holes in the keg of beer before the party began.

"It was better to do that than have it full and have 25 or 40 kids running around drunk," said Chief of Police Dennis Robertson.

Cheap thrills

There's one good thing about being poor. It doesn't cost anything.

Bugged bedroom drives bride to suicide!

Shy bride Zhai Yunshus jumped with joy the day she married the man of [illegible] dreams. But the shaken lady leaped to her death the very next morning — after learning playful pals had bugged her bedroom on her wedding night!

The heartless louts not only recorded the most intimate pillow talk between Zhai and her new hubby Hu — they broadcast it over loudspeakers for the whole town to hear.

By LAUREL BOWEN

"We don't know what these people would possibly have been thinking when they did something so cruel," heartsick Hu told reporters in Kaoning, China.

"I'm sure they thought it was very funny, but it destroyed our lives."

The horror honeymoon began as a happy one as smart Zhai, 22, said the "I do" with schoolteacher Hu, 25, in the village community center.

But the dream was shattered by the groom's pranksy cousin Kuan Hung-sheng and two bridesmaids who sneaked into the newlyweds' cottage during the wedding reception and planted a microphone under their bed.

The pair-armed pranksters then wired the mike to loudspeakers used to make public announcements throughout the village.

"The boys watching us could make us laughing as the did that day," recalled her brother, Hsu. "My daughter was so much in love with Hu. I thought she had a beautiful life ahead of her."

Hidden mike broadcasts newlyweds' pillow talk

PLANS drove Zhai Yunshus to jump off a cliff.

The bride's crumpled body was recovered from the rocks 30 feet below. She was still wearing a red robe her father presented to her at the wedding.

Hsien was found guilty for stealing the two microphones from a shop where he worked.

"I am so sorry," he wept at her funeral. "It was a joke."

"I never meant to hurt anyone, especially Zhai. She was a beautiful, delicate person and I destroyed her.

"I hope someday Hu will forgive me for what I've done."

Convicted by a hair

A feisty woman blew a pack of right and beat off a burglar's head with a shotgun blast, creating evidence that led to his arrest and conviction, authorities in Swatow report.

ROACH ROAST

A South Florida bug killer eliminates roaches, termites and other household pests by frying them alive.

Superheating a home to 130 degrees is an alternative to tenting, which requires homeowners to leave for three days while the bugs are poisoned.

"We can guarantee 100 percent elimination," said Jerry Goodpaster, president of Safe Heat Eliminators.

The heat-blasting method costs $1,000 for a three-bedroom home compared with $600 to $800 for tenting.

Woman falls off balcony — & lands in neighbor's bathtub

By JOE ARGOS

Shapely show girl Susanne Lee escaped with barely a scratch when she tumbled from a third-story balcony, ricocheted off a ledge — and splashed down in a tub where a nude neighbor was taking a bath!

Sexy Susanne was catapulted through an open bathroom window and landed with a thud in a tub of hot, soapy water occupied by flabbergasted Frankie Shum, 61.

"I had just closed my eyes and leaned back in the bath when I heard a godawful shriek and then a great bang," the frail tailor told reporters.

"The next thing I knew this very attractive young lady in a shortie night gown came flying through my window and landed right in my lap.

"It sounds like a dream come true, but believe me, I was too shocked and embarrassed to enjoy it."

Startled Susanne's high-flying adventure began one night when the 23-year-old Hong Kong chorine girl sighted right her apartment balcony in plead with a neighbor to turn down her stereo.

"I crept out to yell for a little peace and quiet, but I leaned too far over the railing and all of a sudden I was tumbling through space," the leggy lady recalled. "For an instant I thought I was going to fall into the alley and die."

Instead of plunging to her death, petite stripteaser Susanne crashed against a ledge, bounced across the narrow alley and tumbled through Frankie's window — sweetly rabbocking the busy bachelor.

"I landed right on top of the poor little guy and I think I knocked the wind out of both of us," she said. "But if he hadn't been there to cushion my fall, I'm sure I'd have been badly hurt. I was very lucky.

"I was also lucky that window was open. If it had been closed, I'd have been cut to shreds."

The dashing dancer said she was mortified when the cabaret closed and she realized she was sharing bathtub with a naked stranger.

"But he was a delightful little guy, and a perfect gentleman," Susanne said. "All that happened around him left me almost as naked as he was and the first thing he did was squirm out of the tub and get me a robe to cover up with."

Neighbors heard the commotion and also

ASLEEP ON THE JOB

Ah, so boring. Maybe these Japanese delegates to the United Nations just got in on the red-eye flight from Tokyo — or maybe they just decided to put the world on hold for a few minutes. At any rate, they seem to be giving the speaker less than their full attention.

Tight pants kill porker playboy!

By NICK McVICKER

The tight-fitting clothes that two-ton playboy Sergio Samini wore to hide his overwise neck and belly literally cut off his circulation and killed him, Italian news agencies report.

"The official cause of death is listed as a heart attack but in fact this man was killed by his clothes," said Dr. Angelo Douglio, who pronounced the 53-year-old man dead in a restaurant in Cremona, Italy.

"He stood only 5 feet 9 inches tall but weighed better than 300 pounds. I'm not a tailor but I'd say the shirt and trousers he was wearing were fit for a man who weighed in the neighborhood of 200 pounds.

"They certainly were much too small for him.

"The restriction of circulation at the neck, waist and groin cut off the blood supply to the heart and brain."

His friends and associates finally told reporters that the overweight playboy was a victim of vanity.

"He used to be slim and trim and just couldn't accept his middle-age spread," said Vittorio Magagnoni. "I know for a fact that he had a 44-inch waist and wore size 36 trousers to hold in his belly.

"Now he managed to button his shirt collars and cuffs. I'll never know. But he did and they were so tight that his head and hands would turn blue.

"I tried to tell him that he was hurting himself but he wouldn't listen. He actually told me it would be a cold day in hell before he'd wear fat boy's clothes.'

"He said his fish was 'water weight' and it would go away if he were using clothes.'

Angelo Colorio, 38, was with Samini when he keeled over in the restaurant and died.

"One moment he was twirling spaghetti with his fork and the next moment he was on the floor moaning and gasping for breath," she told reporters.

"I screamed and a waiter came over and tried to loosen his collar and cuffs. But it was so tight he couldn't move the buttons.

"Another waiter ran for some scissors and cut the shirt away but it was holding his fork loaded with the spaghetti."

Added Magagnoni: "This really hurts because Sergio was a good man. He was rich, gave a fortune to charity and you would always count on him as a friend.

"I guess his one big flaw was that he

Idlers ticketed!

Folks in New York City are breathing a little easier thanks to the mayor's efforts to ticket drivers who leave their engines idling.

Mayor David Dinkins is clearing the air by scrolling out special agents armed with stop watches to enforce a 1971 anti-idling law. It's aimed at cab, bus and truck drivers who leave their engines idling for more than three minutes.

First offenders will get a ticket for $250 and the fines can reach a whopping $450 for repeat offenders. So far, eight tickets have been issued, all to bus drivers.

Bugged by allergies

For more than 10 million Americans mosquitoes are more than a nuisance — they can cause a severe allergic reaction.

When it comes to insects, roaches are second only to house dust mites as a cause of respiratory allergies, says U.S. Agriculture Department bug expert Richard Brenner.

Lazy patient loves hospital — & stays there 59 years!

Lonely Lorraine Guillet was admitted to a hospital with pneumonia when she was 34 — and liked it so much she stayed there for 59 years.

By RICK TRACY

"There was nothing really wrong with her all those years except the fear of facing the outside world," hospital administrator Jean Claude Clay said told reporters in Lyon, France.

"She was rich and all alone in the world until she came into the hospital. She wasn't sick. She loved us, we became like her family."

The lonesome lady's story came to light when she died last month at the age of 93.

A nurse who waited on the lazy lady said she was a clever woman, but one of the most helpless human beings she had ever known.

"She recognized from the pneumonia and was ready to be discharged when she went to die. 'This is wonderful. I feel like a queen being waited on hand and foot,' she told Nurse Tucker.

"She even liked the hospital food. Maybe because she had gotten so bland as she did."

Lady Lorraine Guillet was always often overdue to remind the couldn't face the thought of leaving the hospital.

But the hospital she loved, full of patients and her doctors, were a big part of our budget so we pretended not to notice she wasn't really sick," said administrator Clay said.

"We were like the family she didn't have. So shall. Most people don't like to spend time in a hospital but she was the exception. She loved it here.

"Now that I look back on the years she was with us all — from my office to her room — I'm sure she was happy."

Hot dog sales are sizzling

Bikini-clad women hawking hot dogs on street corners are boiling up more than $300 a day attracting lecherous crowds — and causing a one-man mentality crusade.

It's inappropriate attire to be dispensing food on a corner. It's violating the nutritional standards of decency," said Palm Beach (Fla.) County Commissioner Ken Howard.

Wife scolded by judge for killing hubby

A woman got chewed out by an angry judge because she put herself in a position of having to risk her husband to death so he wouldn't strangle her.

"If you had an ounce of common sense, you should have known what you were getting into," Judge George Ungewitt told Lisa Hall 40 during the court hearing.

Mrs. Hall pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter in the death of her husband Kenneth, 38 and was placed on five years probation.

The judge said she knew the potential for trouble when she selected a motel room where she was living with her husband and lover, Mitch.

Her husband had been drinking and she knew he was abusive in that condition, the judge said.

Cops see red?

It's not true that cops give more speeding tickets to motorists driving red cars, says a new survey.

Red cars accounted for 18 percent of 824 speeding tickets handed out in the Tampa Bay, Fla., area while white cars got 19 percent of the speeding tickets.

"It's not the color of the car that matters," said Clearwater Police Sgt. Thomas Miller. "It's how fast it's going."

A 10-year-old girl is back home safe and sound thanks to a brother and sister who turned into daredevil vigilantes to rescue her from a kidnapper!

Courageous Gwen and Mike Spaits jumped in her car and chased suspected child molester Richard Nesmith for six miles at speeds of up to 90 m.p.h. through the streets of Wichita, Kans., before he finally pulled over and gave up.

"All I could think of was we've gotta get him," said Gwen, 24. "I didn't even think about being afraid."

The drama unfolded on a sunny afternoon at a coin laundry owned by Gwen's father. He thinks it was such a nice day a mother allowed her two young children to play outside in the parking lot while she did the laundry.

"They didn't know it, but he was watching them," said Lt. Mike McKenna of the Wichita Police Department. "He decided to abduct the girl and got her into the car after a struggle.

Richard Nesmith

"Her little brother ran screaming into the Laundromat and got his mother. That's when Gwen and Mike got involved.

"I'd just stopped in to say 'hello' when I heard a little boy and his mother screaming and holding each other," said Gwen. "My dad said, 'Get him,' so I jumped in my car, my brother got in and we took off, with my dad following behind us.

"About a mile down the road, he pushed the little girl out of the car. My dad stopped to help her and Mike and I kept on going."

At one point Nesmith pulled over and told the Spaitses to leave him alone. As he was about to take off again, Gwen reached through his open window and grabbed the gear-shift, breaking it off. He then took off again, leaving Gwen on the side of the road and Mike speeding off after him.

"I chased him for another four miles," said Mike, 21. "We were doing 80 m.p.h. At one point I came to a red light and got a man and woman on motorcycles to help me chase him.

"He finally pulled over again and the people on motorcycles ran to a house and called police." When the cops arrived on the scene, they arrested Nesmith, 34, and charged him with kidnapping, taking indecent liberties with

Escaped Nazis artificially inseminate Texas woman with

I'M PREGNANT WITH HITLER'S

By LARRY WHITE
Correspondent

The 26-year-old woman has no evidence to support her claim. But she insists that she was chosen to give birth to the Fuhrer's child by an elite group of Nazis who fled Germany at the end of World War 2 with a vial of Hitler's frozen sperm.

"I am pregnant with Hitler's baby and I want the world to know it," Miss Royer told a journalist in Dallas. "The Fuhrer's power and genius will not be denied. They will continue my baby to take up where his father left off.

"My child will take his rightful place as leader of the Fourth Reich and the world."

Miss Royer refused to identify the elderly Nazis who allegedly provided her with Hitler's sperm and arranged for her to become pregnant.

She did say that she was artificially inseminated in South America last December and medical records show that she is indeed seven months pregnant with a little boy.

Records also show that her parents came to the United States from Wiesbaden, West Germany in 1962.

Both of them were fanatical members of Hitler's Nazi party. Miss Royer, who is an unemployed college graduate, said:

"My parents are dead but they would be proud to know that I am going to give birth to the next great leader of the German empire," she continued.

"Like Der Fuhrer, they believed in the superiority of the Aryan race.

"And they maintained those beliefs until the day they died."

Fertility experts said there is no way to determine if the young woman is actually car

LOVE-HUNGRY pooches line up outside Gardi's matchmaking service. Owners pay $25 a year to enroll their dogs.

PUPPY LOVE

A dog fancier in Rome, Italy, is making tails wag while he's making money — with the world's first matchmaking service for dogs!

By SUSAN JAMISON

Cupid-for-canines Giandomenico Gardi says he's already got hundreds of four-footed clients and he's been in business for only a few months. For a small fee, he promises to match a lovelorn pooch with a "soul mate" of the same breed, ending dreary dog days filled with loneliness and heartbreak.

"Lots of pups are forced to live without love because their owners can't find a partner of the same breed for them," said Gardi, 36, who owns a small kennel in addition to his doggy matrimonial agency.

"Usually, owners never resolve the romantic problems of their dogs, so they never find a companion. Our matchmaking service was established to help dogs find their soul mates.

"We're here to make puppy love happen," Gardi says. He finds his clients by advertising in local newspapers, offering to play matchmaker for lonely dogs.

After checking out the pooch's particulars, Gardi enters data into a computer. When the perfect mate for a dog turns up, Gardi will arrange a meeting — and let Nature take things from there.

Love being what it is, Gardi admits that the first match doesn't always work.

He says he sometimes has to match a demanding dog more than once before the pooch finds that certain someone that turns it on.

"Dogs can be very picky," the patriarch of puppy love said. "But eventually we always find a mate that is suitable."

It costs $25 a year to enroll a dog in Gardi's one-of-a-kind agency, but it's well worth the

Pogo-sticker hops to top of world's tallest building

Wacky Ashrita Furman set a new world's record by climbing the world's tallest building — on a pogo stick!

The health food store manager hopped up 1,760 stairs of Toronto's 1,822-foot high CN tower, in less than an hour.

Now, the 35-year-old Furman wants an entry in the Guinness Book of World Records as the man with the most useful records.

So far, he's walked over 50 miles with a full bottle of milk on his head, climbed a third of Japan's Mount Fuji with a pogo stick and pogo-sticked underwater in Brazil's Amazon River.

Furman's next feat is to regain his 1987 yodeling record by yodeling for 30 hours in a hot air balloon over Ottawa,

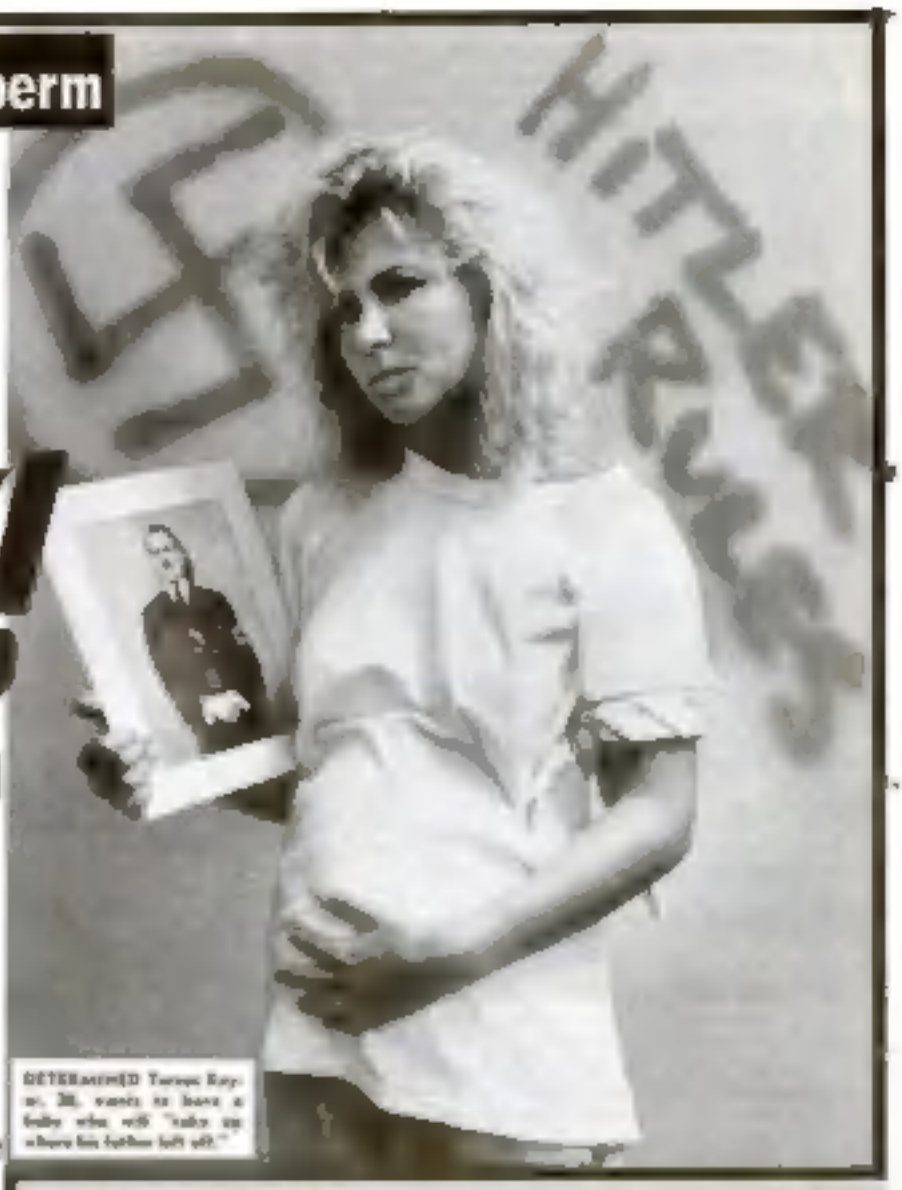
Der Fuhrer's frozen sperm

WITH BABY!

Mom-to-be wants her kid to be just like his daddy



DETERMINED Tanya Kuyper, 26, wants to have a baby who will "take up where his father left off."

FAMED Nazi expert Peter Bauer says some of Der Fuhrer's supporters may have escaped from Germany with some of Hitler's frozen sperm and used it to impregnate Miss Kuyper.

...ying Hitler's baby but they conceded that the Nazi madman's sperm would have remained viable if it had been properly frozen and stored for the past 45 years.

Even more chilling, historian and Nazi expert Peter Bauer of Berlin says that stories of Hitler's frozen sperm first surfaced shortly after the war and have never been disproved.

"I'm not saying that this Kuyper woman is carrying Hitler's baby but there is a possibility that she is," said the expert.

"Of course, she may have heard the stories about Hitler's frozen sperm and made the whole thing up.

"Your guess is as good as mine.

"There's no question that she's pregnant. And she's definitely a fanatic about Hitler."

Blind driver crashes pal's car after 2-mile joyride, say cops

A blind man talked his two hunting buddies into helping him drive a car and the caper ended like you might expect — with the car wrapped around a telephone pole.

"They were like the Three Stooges," said Police Lt. Robert Whalen of Buffalo, N.Y.

"Here's this blind guy driving the car, another one not doing a very good job of guiding the wheel, and a guy in the backseat giving directions."

None of the three guys were injured when their car smashed into the pole less than two miles after Montgomery Ford, 21, climbed behind the wheel.

Montgomery had been out drinking with his brother, Kevin, 23, and Donald McNair, 20, their 1993 Chevrolet. "He told us he had always wanted to drive a car. It was something he just had to do," said Lt. Whalen.

"Unfortunately the house and his blindness were a bad mix," said another cop.

With one of his friends guiding Montgomery from the passenger seat and the other helping from the backseat, he somehow made it through about two miles of twisting streets.

There wasn't much traffic because it was 2:45 a.m. but his short-lived thrill behind the wheel ended with a crunch, said police.

Cops said the three admitted they had downed a few drinks before heading home. "They didn't have the slightest idea how fast they were going," said a policeman at the scene.

Montgomery was cited for driving without a license.

This message is only for those who have never won anything at the races, lotto or other lotteries...or who have only won insignificant amounts (less than $100).
This message is also for those of you who believe it is impossible to win several thousand dollars and think that their life will never be anything but a succession of dull, sad days.

Your golden number

Scientists admit that planetary positions on our birthdate influence our lives, our behavior and the right – and wrong – decisions we make. Now, more and more people recognize that a particular number will also influence our lives. Some assert that this number is the visible sign – much like a mystical presence – through which the infinite intelligence helps us...proving that we are not totally on our own.

If you have read as I have, statements made by bygone winners (over $1,000,000), then you know they very often admit to having been helped by being dictated all or some of the numbers. They will acknowledge this fact openly though some may not believe them.

The more specialized media will also prove to you that an incredible amount of people have won hundreds and thousands they never could have hoped to win – thanks to their personal lucky number. They often talk and write about it.

Help yourself and heaven will help you

Despair no more

It is a fact that luck strikes most often when it is least expected. Reading this message is the first step. Luck is about to come your way. Perhaps you were to read this message.

Looking back on all the important moments of your life, you might have noticed that a certain number – different from other people's numbers – appears over and over again. Those who understand the message and who recognize their Golden Number have been known to win thousands at the races, lotto, or lotteries.

I wish to reach those of you who – for various reasons – have not grasped this message.
